Draught Beer

Most draught beer is not only a nonpasteurized product but is highly sensitive to various conditions such as temperature, odors and cleanliness. To ensure that the freshness and quality of the product are maintained when serving draught beer and to meet the requirements of the Liquor Regulations, you may find these tips helpful:

- always store kegs in coolers
- ensure thermometers are placed in storage coolers
- store kegs separately from food products, especially uncovered products
- limit product shaking when handling
- do not tap a keg for at least 24 hours after delivery
- clean the draught beer taps and lines weekly
- ensure your dispensing system is in good repair
- constantly clean and rinse glassware
- store the kegs so that they can be easily rotated
- rotate the kegs on hand so that the keg with the oldest date is tapped first
- regularly check the keg dates to ensure the product is not outdated (the shelf life for most draught beer, if stored at the recommended temperature, is 90 days from the date of packaging).

To determine the date the product was packaged, check the date indicated on the keg. For Molson and Labatt products, the date is stamped on the side of the keg in our (Gregorian) calendar e.g. 31 AUG 05 or AUG 31/05. For Chilkoot or Yukon Brewing products, the date is typed on a label located near the keg rim in the Julian calendar e.g. 242 (this means August 31st).

July 2009 Bulletin

CONFISCATED ID

Under the Liquor Act, a driver's licence can be used as proof of age in Yukon licensed establishments. There are instances where a minor attempts to get liquor service by presenting false ID. When a person tampers with a driver's licence, they can be charged under of the Motor Vehicles Act. This offence carries a penalty of $125 and a conviction is then on their driving record. To proceed with charges, the RCMP need to have the confiscated ID as evidence.

The Motor Vehicles Branch is asking for your help. Included with this bulletin is a form that you are being asked to complete and forward with the confiscated licence directly to Motor Vehicles. It is not mandatory, but it would greatly assist the RCMP with laying charges. It is very important however, that this be done as quickly as possible, because the RCMP must charge the individual within 30 days.

If you have any questions or would like to have more detailed information, please contact Motor Vehicles at 667-5313.
